Rebecca Porter has been working as a Paediatric Occupational Therapist since 1996. She has completed a Master of Health Sciences through the University of Sydney, focusing on Sensory Integration and Learning Disabilities.

Rebecca has worked both in Australia and overseas as a Paediatric Occupational Therapist in many settings, including early intervention services, special and mainstream schools, hospitals and community health services, and as a tutor at LaTrobe University in Paediatrics. In her current role at Nillumbik Community Health Service, she works with a wide range of children with various needs, including those with Asperger’s Syndrome / children on the Autism Spectrum, and children with Sensory Integration difficulties.

Rebecca will discuss the impact that sensory processing and integration can have on children with Asperger’s Syndrome. She will discuss the theory behind this, along with practical strategies
