Sea Star Collection

During the March Sea Star collection we removed thousands of tiny Northern Pacific Sea Stars from the beach next to the kiosk. They were hiding in the seagrass. This is the time to get them out when they have not done much damage. We saw a lot of crabs in the sea grass, they have not yet been eaten by the sea stars and this alone will give the rakali a better balanced diet than the tube worms they have been surviving on.

Next Collection Day Saturday 25th April
