

This is an Invitation for a Hop, Skip and Jump through local history with Gembrook's acknowledged historian, Genseric (Bill) Parker. Some of the stories are reminiscences and some have been experienced by him personally, but all show Bill's remarkable gift for remembering events, names and dates over his eventful 95 year life.

We called the collection "Fireside Stories" because it all started around campfires in the early days of the Friends Group at our Kurth Kiln working bee meetings.

The monumental red-brick kiln together with its historic Interpretation Boards and the associated Picnic and Camping Ground provide an interesting and relaxing holiday atmosphere in a natural bush environment for the thousands of visitors that come here each year.

ISBN 978-0-9807615-0-4

9 780980 761504

FIRESIDE STORIES

Fireside Stories

the Parkers as Friends of Kurth Kiln

The Parkers as Friends of Kurth Kiln